Dr Tobias Pincock, one of the country's leading ENT (Ear, Nose, Throat) and Facial Plastic Surgeons, appreciates natural beauty.

"From my experience, every woman wants to look good, no matter how old they are," says Dr Pincock, one of Australia's leading specialists in facial plastics.

"Therefore, I strive to offer the safest and most advanced choices to assist women towards feeling better about themselves, whatever age they may be."

With extensive international training in plastic and cosmetic surgery of the head and neck, as well as training in facial cosmetic surgery, facial reconstructive surgery, and craniofacial trauma reconstruction, Dr Pincock is taking giant leaps into turning back the ageing process.

"Cosmetic surgery has advanced in leaps and bounds and there are now more options available for women who are over 40 years old," he says.

"In terms of the smaller, less invasive procedures, Botox and fillers are still proving hugely popular and the results of eyelifts and browlifts are more natural than ever," says Dr Pincock.

"Another popular procedure for the older client is the facelift, which has advanced a tremendous amount," says Dr Pincock of the procedure he mastered during the 12 months he spent in Seattle completing a fellowship in facial plastics through the American Academy of Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery.

"The key to looking good is not to look 'done' but to look refreshed and restored and that's what I offer," he concludes. "Women and men have the power to prevent ageing and treat it. I am not trying to turn back the clock but instead, hit the pause button on the ageing process."

1 The procedures available include injectables, such as Botox and fillers, through to skin resurfacing and facial cosmetic reconstructive surgery.

2 Dr Pincock is certified by each of the Australian, American and European academies of facial plastic surgery.

3 All of Dr Pincock's patients enjoy a sterile yet comfortable environment and can expect the most natural of results.
